

Urban Placemaking for the City of Los Angeles

a talk with Portland's Mark Lakeman

Ronald F. Deaton Auditorium: 100 W 1st St Los Angeles, CA 90012
Tuesday, March 29th | 4:00pm - 5:30pm

- Successful strategies for transforming public spaces from car-centric to people-centric
- Accelerating culture change within public agencies
- Learning and practicing effective tools for continuing people and planet healthy change

Presented by City Repair Project founder and architect Mark Lakeman, this talk will provide a dazzling spectrum of real world tools for building participatory culture and manifesting lasting change through physical interventions. Mark will also present powerful ideas for building resiliency while also addressing the negative effects of gentrification.

Free and open event || For more info, contact crsp@igc.org or 213.738.1254 || For other LA events with Mark Lakeman, see www.cityrepair.org

This event is sponsored by:

CRSP Institute for Urban Ecovillages
at L.A. Eco-Village
Streetsblog Los Angeles
Neighborhood Council Sustainability Alliance